Notice of updated terms

Effective 12/1/22, we have updated the AT&T Consumer Service Agreement, which you can review at att.com/ConsumerServiceAgreement. Among the updates are new ways to resolve individual disputes informally and new procedures for certain coordinated arbitrations. By continuing to use our services, you accept and agree to be bound by the updates. If you do not agree, see att.com/CSA for details, options, and deadlines.

Affordable Connectivity Program

The Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP) is a federal government program operated by the Federal Communications Commission that allows qualified households to lower internet or wireless costs by $30/mo. (up to $75/mo. if you reside on eligible tribal lands). You may qualify if your household is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines, you qualify for the Lifeline program, or anyone in your household participates in one of the federal programs listed at affordableconnectivity.gov/do-i-qualify. The benefit is not transferable and is limited to one monthly benefit per household. If the program ends, you transfer your benefit to another service provider, or you are no longer eligible for the program, regular plan rates, terms, and conditions will apply. See affordableconnectivity.gov to apply or for more details. Once approved, you may enroll with AT&T at att.com/acp

The late payment fee for consumer and Signature bills not paid in full by the payment due date is up to $7.00.

Company fees & surcharges

AT&T imposes additional charges on a per line basis, including federal and state universal service charges, an Administrative Fee (to defray certain expenses including charges AT&T or its agents pay to interconnect with other carriers to deliver calls from AT&T customers to their customers, and charges associated with cell site rents and maintenance), and a Regulatory Cost Recovery Charge (to recover costs of compliance with certain government imposed regulatory requirements, including Wireless Number Portability and Number Pooling, and E911). These fees are not taxes or charges that the government requires AT&T to collect from its customers. See att.com/mobilityfees for details.
